

How Might We?

Use this template to find the question that sparks your curiosity and gives you the most ideas. It usually takes some tries before you nail the right question, that is not too broad (has too many sub-challenges ie: save the world) nor too narrow (has only one or a few possible solutions ie: build an app), so just give it a go and start writing. You'll know you're on the right track when your question sparks a lot of ideas instantly.
