From execution To farewell

When possible we attend debriefs and farewell celebrations after the congress has ended.

We send out post-evaluation debriefs to the association.

It is important for us that the association and delegates have experienced the best customer service during their stay.

It is important for us to evaluate with the association together with Meetingplace partners about their experience of the city. This is done through post-evaluation dialogue.

We inform Meetingplace partners about the congress end date and departure date.

Testimonials from previous congresses are important for us and the city because it is proof of long term trust and great relationships.
